A Suffragette Hen.

David Sanders brought to the Herald office a few days ago a hen's egg with the figure "10" on it as plain as if marked by print. There was also the outline of what many people took to be the face of a skeleton. An old lady living on Depot street, who is somewnat of a seeress, says that the "10" marked on the egg means that the European war will last ten years and that the skeleton is the representation of what everybody will be if the fighting is kept up that long. The hen that is responsible for the mystically-marked egg is a regular layer, but she was never known to set and positively repudiates any inclination to raise a family of chicks .- Harrodsburg Herald.
